KurzbeschreibungDon't buy this I'm giving it away free!Grasslands is actually the testimony I wrote for my spy thriller White Water lead character.Over 200 pages of backstory.What you'll find here is the basic who, why and how it all started.You certainly won't be blown away with a magical work of literature genius.It's a simple read, no fireworks.Don't get me wrong though you'll still get an enjoyable coherent narrativethat delivers a mystery and suspenseful adventure.Contact me on Twitter for a free copy (search D G Leigh).Grasslands will take its reader on a rip-roaring, sweeping adventure across the romantic wild lands of Mongolia and beyond. Handsome New Yorker Myron Gehrig an avian paleontologist, whilst on his gap-year is backpacking through the majestic Orient. Chang Soo is an aspiring murderous cog within the rising ranks of the Mongolian Mafia machine. The pair are about to violently cross paths. A meeting that will later rip asunder the ancient steppes to heaven with the technological explosive roar of the 21st century. Left for dead, Myron is found and taken to a remote community where he must face a new journey of discovery.Qiufang is the beautiful, innocent, female assigned the task of nursing him back to health. Chang, still on the run, continues to play a deadly game of cat and mouse with both the pursuing police force and other sinister members of his own underworld fraternity. For Myron and Chang this is only the beginning... Both men are set on a collision course that will bring them back full circle for one final climactic battle. ...Ground zero Qiufang and her tranquil village. One man brings a merciless army, empowered by a breakaway Russian state. ...The other, told an ancient myth that a man made of light will stand alone to expel a monstrous evil. Myron Gehrig, an ordinary man is about to discover if that's trueber den Autor und weitere MitwirkendeDavid grew up by the sea in a medium size fishing village. He filled his childhood days beach-combing, exploring nature and wondering around museums. Those early years gave him the love he has for the great outdoors and those motionless exhibition glass cages ignited his thirst for inhaling the real world. At eighteen he threw his rack-sack across his shoulders and stepped through the airport departure gate. Over the following decade he encompassed the globe. Sometimes travelling alone through remote and dangerous places. These were his pirate years. Riding horseback on foreign shores waiting for the next escapade to tap him on the shoulder. Meeting many wonderful people from every corner of planet and haphazardly faced death on numerous occasions. His books are the result of first hand experiences and not armchair imagination. He's now resides in London with his wife and son.
